

life. This holistic approach to education paves the way for students to become not just successful learners, but compassionate and responsible members of society who are ready to lead with integrity and empathy.